Are you interested in a rewarding career in health and social care with great career progression opportunities across health and social care?

Are you aware that apprenticeships are available to people of all ages?

Are you willing to travel, have a flexible approach, demonstrate good attention to detail and are a good decision maker?

Are you passionate about supporting people with a range of complex needs to enable them to have choice and control over their lives?

We are offering a developmental pilot health and social care support worker Apprenticeship role to provide the apprentices with a variety of training and development opportunities across health and social care in Derby City and Derbyshire including 3 rotational placements. The aim of the role is to provide health and social support to people with a range of complex and challenging needs to enable them to have choice and control of their lives. You will receive the training in a variety of clinical skills to assist qualified nursing staff with the provision of person centred care.

Over a period of 15 months the new Derbyshire pilot Health and Social Care Support Worker Apprenticeship role will allow you to combine learning with earning to support you to embark upon an exciting and rewarding career in health and care. You will undertake a variety of work placements across a fixed geographical area and have the opportunity to undertake training courses including specialist units to cover the health elements of the role. Upon successful completion you will achieve a level 2 Apprenticeship in Care.
